

Bellingham Conservation Chair - Two Year Term

Bellingham Branch of The Mountaineers, September 2014

Goal of Position

The Mountaineers connect people with the outdoors to support the physical, emotional and social benefits of a healthy active outdoor lifestyle and because successful conservation depends on these connections. The Conservation Chair works to ensure the Bellingham Branch protects the places that inspire, excite and challenge us and leave them better than when we arrived through engaging in stewardship, education and advocacy

Activities and Responsibilities

The Conservation Chair is responsible for motivating, leading, and supporting conservation activities and awareness to Bellingham Branch, its volunteers and the community. They are a point of contact for activity committee chairs, facilitate and enable communication of conservation efforts and activities, and lead the effort to engage and involve the Bellingham Branch in the conservation of our public lands for future generations.

Qualifications Sought

- Commitment to the branch and organization vision
- A passion for conservation education, stewardship and advocacy
- Positive personal outlook
- Being someone who follows through on commitments while avoiding personal over-commitment
- Good listening and communication skills and an ability to relate to a broad range of personalities
- An ability to facilitate communication across a broad range of activities and Mountaineer stakeholders

Each situation and opportunity is different. No previous experience in this kind of role is required.

Support and Reporting

The Branch Chair is elected by the branch membership and leads the branch council. The Chair works with a committee of dedicated and friendly Branch Council members who share a love of The Mountaineers and work together as a team. In addition, Mountaineers staff are available to answer questions assist anyone in the position.

How to apply

To be considered for Bellingham Conservation Chair, please contact Minda Paul at mindapaul@hotmail.com.

All members with sincere interest and realistic time to commit to this role are encouraged to apply!